

23rd May 2002

from Norman Routledge MAY 28 2002

24 Rothsay Street, Bermondsey, London

POSTCODE SE1 4UE TELEPHONE 020-7403 5346

My dear Stephen,
How very kind of you to send me a copy of "A New Kind of Science" - I'm intrigued by the diagrams and look forward to getting to grips with the text. I'd heard about the book from Christopher Sykes who hoped I could contribute to the TV ~~film~~ film he is planning about you (I'd done a bit for him about Alan Turing, mainly about his private life - you will be relieved to know that I know nothing about yours).
I run into Conrad occasionally

(on the Mathematica stand at computer exhibitions) and so get a little news of you.

I've had 13 years of happy retirement (now aged 74),
enjoying the many pleasures of London, wh. I shall continue to do while my health lasts.

Again many thanks, & all good wishes.

Yours ever,

Norman

